Address of the Italian Fatracts of New York to Manisignor Bedins.

The disorders which have been considered by you in this country have produced a great scandal and existenced to such a degree that we your countrymen, can not and ought not to remain indifferent specialors.

If we have not spoken hitherto; if we have, in ellerce, followed the develope ment of this drams, which tends to app se jour drep decelt of the New Worl; in all its hor rible nakedness, do rot think we have done so because, as your agologist, Hr. Carroll, has said we feared the dagger of any assassin. No, we have hitherto been sile at because we believed that you, Monsing or Bedini, would not carry andacity so far as to deny what has been justly imputed to you.

But now, we see, that not only you. Monsignor Bedini, attempt with hypocritical laccuage, to deay your horrid past deeds, which are to died for vengesnee; but also that many journals is this to derelulous republic, and several S. nators of the Cangress with tribe as your defonders, the time has cone for us to raise a fatal vell from you and make known to the world how as guilarry was your soul, how sacreligious and barbarian was your Catholie ministry, and how much you deserve for that rea on, to be ranked with Hiyana and Rafetsay.

You, Monsignor Bedini, dared to ester Belogna in disguies as a spy and served as emissary of Pius IX while he was in Gasta, in order to corrupt the faithfulness which the Swiss troops, nommaded by Groeral Latour, had some to the the dominant Roman republit; and in that crime found your life in danger, which was saved by the protection of that Groeral, in whose house you were secreted, and who obtained from the civil Governor of Bologna means to remove you privately from the popular fury by which you were threatened.

You, Monsignor Bedini, entered Bologna in the year 1849, at the head of an Austrian army, after bombarding it eight days; you envised joyful and making merry, among the ruins of the burning Bologna and the blood of your countrymes, at your su

Hassi, in the name of the Pope.

It is impossible to suppose that the Austriau military commissioner could dispose of the libert's and life, &z., of citisons subject to your will and your laws, without your having given an 'explicit approbation to the bloody and bratel secrifice of test body and brave patriot. And, even if that commission had been executed independent of your influence, set your rank and titles would have left you sufficient influence—benignant and Christ as in Smence—to save the life of that victim of Italian patriotism. At any rate, the Fonthous government, represented by you was, in those turks pay circumstances, teap principal suther of all the legal middeds and the Austrians were merely the executioners.

We will not bring forward again the seandalous scenes of your private life, which cover your name with infamy in Selegagia, your native place, and in Bilegna. We leave all that to the snawinous testimony of Italians, clearly expressed in a great number of the newspapers of that period of wick-duess.

But we cannot be stient concerning what you feel in your heart, and perhaps without remorse, that during

But we cannot be stient coccurring what you feel in your beart, and perhaps without removes, that during your government in the Four Legations so many pairlost perished on the scafflic and to prisons. We will here, for the sake of brevity, only remind you of the unfortunate min who, sgainst you and the government which you represented cry for vengeance to the wrath of God, viz. those who fell in those anecutions or were condemsed to the galley, in Bolgons alone, under your eyes, and is your time, viz.; the three months from Saptember to November:—

We comit many other names, whose rentences of contemnation appeared in the chicial journals of your go'ver ment.

Bedinii We, italize eriles and wanderers, for the same cause for which Ugo Bassi and the other patriots were sacrificed, intend simply to do justice to the trath, by denouncing and proclaiming you the instigator, cooperator and inhuman speciator of so many good men messacred, which, as we have said, it was entirely in your power to mitigate or prevent.

The orime of those brave youths was that of leving the ame country which you betrayed, and of delivering it from that religious and political yoke of from which you are now endeavoring to extend even over this republic.

Bedinii We never have thought of taking your life. Our soul has always been very different from yours. We will know that if you were dead the heads of the flydravoule reproduce themselves. Live then, but, like Cain, everywhere accompanied by the maledistions of three generations—the past, the present and the future.

We conclude by expressing our gratitude to all those who, pastaking of our recentiment, have given you, in discreti places in the United States, public expressions of reprobation. Like us, they know that the three most conspicuous I faltan friars, realous for il verty, were a naido of Berseia, who was burnt alire, by the orier of Pope Adrian IV.; Girolamo Savanacola hung and burnt at the command of Pope Adrian IV.; Girolamo Savanacola hung and burnt at the command of Pope Adrian IV.; Girolamo Savanacola hung and burnt at the command of Pope Adrian IV.; Girolamo Savanacola hung and burnt at the command of Pope Adrian IV.; Girolamo Savanacola hung and burnt at the command of Pope Adriander VI; and Benseitto de Frijano, starved to death at the express order of progress, to have a Pope in Pus IX. who should sacri foe, by means of you, the fourth great patrio, in the prevent of the friar Ugo Bassi

THE HAYWARD RUBBER WORKS IN BUINS—ONE MAN BURNT—LOSS HEAVY—FIVE HUNDRED HANDS THROWN OUT OF REFLOYMENT.

A correspondent of the HARTORI Times gives the following account of the burning of the Hayward Rubber Works:

Our village has met with a great loss by the burning, on the 5th uit, of the Hayward Rubber Works in this place. The fire was discovered at about twelve o'clock, soon after the night hands had left. It is customary to keep the machinery in operation right and day, with the exception of the Sabbath—twenty-four hours. As soon as the fire was discovered, the alarm was given by minans of a steam whistle connected with the boiler. There was as small fire engine belonging to the company, which was need with great efficacy in preventing the spread of the fire to the workshops; but although there were force pumps of power sufficient to extinguish the dames, they could not be used on account of the extreme serecity of the weather having frezen the small pounds or reservoirs almost a life.

The buildings (centaining all the machinery for preparing the rubber, the engine room, cutting room and large new buildings for the reception of new machinery, to gether with the buriness office, were all consumed. One may, an overver, about thirty one years of age, named George Stark, was burned.

He went into the grinding room to get his books, and becoming sufficeated with the modes, fell. His bedy was resevered his momentag, or wat was left of it; as he fell on his face, a part of his vest, his acys, and a part of his books were found. He left a wife, who is almost distracted.

The buildings and machinery were fully insured, but there is a great loss in the necessary suspension of bostreates.

United States Commissioner's Court.

Before R. E. Stillwell, Esq.

Jan. 30 — Charge of Greed and Unusual Punishment.—The United States w. Charles H. Hewild.—In this case it appeared in evidence that defendant was oblef mate of the steamership Yankee Blade, and that on the 31st of December, while she was lying at Aspiawall, he approached John F. Cripper, one of the waiters, (who was employed in dust ire the gangway.) and directed him to go and bring water on board, as all the crew had been ordered to that daty. Crippen said that the would go as soon as he got his coat and shoes. Capt. Randall, however, swore that Crippen said he would not obey. Thereupon the mate inflated cruel are dunnaual punishment on him, by pushing, kicking and striking him, producing considerable injury.

Upon this evidence, and after hearing Mr. Ridgway for the United States, and Mesers Sherwood and Robinson for defence, the Commissioner decided upon committing the defendant in fall, but he was subsequently released on giving bail.
